Like every other report you will hear today 2020 started off looking strong then the big bang. There were many discussions and plans for potential events, dreams of getting back on the water but nothing came to pass.

In BC we were fortunate to have had access in most clubs to do solo training throughout the past year. With a very brief 2-month window where small groups could train together until a second lock down was enforced.

Committees still met virtually, and work was done to prepare for the eventual reopening of life back on the water. Month by month this evolved, and we are lucky now in BC to begin seeing DB boats being allowed to be back on the water with very strict protocols put in place.
